Our sustainable and eco-friendly approach is in place to ensure a greener future. We focus on special sustainable finishes whilst using a blend of organic fabrics.

Tracing back in our own supply chain, we focus on sourcing organic and certified materials which have been sustainably produced for our garments whether it be labels, buttons, rivets, or chemicals of any sort. This allows us to reduce environmental impacts in each material and process that is involved in producing any garment. We go a step further in ensuring that our own suppliers have the right credible certifications to provide sustainable products.

We continue to focus on business practices and processes which ensure that both less water and energy is utilized. Thus, reducing the number of natural resources which go into a pair of jeans or pants.

Our re-use and re-cycle procedure in our manufacturing processes also certifies that wastage is minimized when it comes to both water and materials. This creates a circular process in which resources are either reused in manufacturing again or sent out to get re-cycled. Thus, contributing to a greener environment.
